In next year's season we take you on a jazz cultural tour through the heart of different countries and different eras, starting off with a Detroit and Chicago-style chicken and rib shack vibe, a combination of Jimmy Smith meets Gene Ammons and Clark Terry led by the hard bop legend Mike LeDonne on piano and organ.

Next up is the fabulous Omer Avital, known for his exotic and innovative bass playing. Omer and his quintet put a unique spin on old new and familiar jazz songs and rhythms in a high energy extravaganza of jazz mixed with a tinge of the Middle East.

November's show is a tribute to three of the high priestesses of jazz vocals. The all-star line up features vocalist Carla Cook, a New York legend that many believe was cut from the same cloth as these great singers. With innovative piano virtuoso Lynne Arriale, and Downbeat poll winner Grace Kelly on tenor saxophone, these ladies will deliver a legacy of beauty, power, wit and poignancy.

In the spring we will feature the rising stars of today's jazz scene. Pianist Aaron Diehl is taking New York by storm with his dynamic super quartet. Diehl will be joined by singer Charanee Wade, a favorite performer at Jazz at Lincoln Center. Wade has been described as following in the footsteps of Nancy Wilson.

We end the season with a celebration of the music of Stevie Wonder, bringing back the talented Kenny Washington, a versatile and powerful tenor voice that can deliver it all - anything from a ballad to a pop song, to R & B to the most sensitive jazz. You can expect a barn-burning finale of yet another stellar season. We look forward to seeing you there!
